

Miss Kirstine's Philosophy

Children are the future of our world and they need all the support, care and guidance to help them learn and develop, whilst exploring and discovering a world of new opportunities and possibilities.

My aim is to provide high quality daycare where the environment is warm, loving, nurturing and educational. By creating a feeling of acceptance and a sense of belonging, we provide an environment which enables each child to feel safe and secure. Our values will be based on the principals of respect, responsibility and community through exploration and discovery in a supporting and enriching environment. The children's interests will be extended through the support and guidance of carers in stimulating experiences. I believe that the quality of care young children receive, their learning experiences and their relationships in their first years of life are critical in shaping their future.
